

Redmond Linden, Tilia americana 'Redmond'

The Redmond linden is a variety of the American linden or Basswood. The growth rate is medium to medium-fast. Mature height is approximately 60 feet with a 45 feet horizontal spread. American lindens are excellent shade trees and develop a pyramidal canopy shape. Foliage is dense with 2-4 inch, bright green leaves. The fall color is yellow. The Redmond linden is an excellent tree for urban conditions, adapts well to alkaline soils, air pollution and soil compaction. Linden trees are not tolerant of salt. These pictures were taken at 1007 Lake Avenue. Mature- older species can be found at 730 Forest Avenue –on 8th, 101 Linden Avenue and 300 Vista.

Source: Manual of Woody Landscape Plants, Michael A. Dirr.